Just then, Peter's grandfather came out. He was upset because Peter had gone alone to the meadow. "It's a dangerous place. If a wolf should come out of the forest, then what would you do?"

Whenever Peter and his grandfather came back to the clearing, they could hear the sounds of different plants and animals that grew as the wolf decayed into the soil.

They came upon the body of the wolf in a clearing. All was completely still, but as they approached, Peter could hear a small sound. He stood very still, and listened.

At first, there were the sounds of mushrooms...

then the spreading of lichen...

bluebells...

clover...

daisies...

foxgloves...

orchids...

Peter could even swear
that hear the hedgehog
